Dean M. Ward Only Woman Director In U. S. Field

Summer Session Program Proves Most Extensive Of Any Since First Year in 1921.

Dean Mary A. Ward, director of the Summer Session of the San Francisco State Teachers College, holds the position of being the only woman in the United States who is director of a state summer school with an enrollment as large as S. T. C.

According to the U. S. Educational Directory for 1930, there are over 700 private and public summer schools in this country. Less than ten directors are women, and, with the exception, of Dean Ward, their schools are private or else have an enrollment under 500.

Since Dean Ward took over the duties of administrator of the summer school, the summer session enrollment has gone forward. In 1927 929 students were registered. In 1928, when she became director, the number had increased to 1149, in 1929 to 1318, and in 1930 to 1481. This year's registration promises to eclipse all others, for so far there are 1407, compared to 1307 at the same time last year. In 1930, S. T. C. had the distinction of having the largest summer session attendance of the 21 colleges in California, including the seven Teachers Colleges, and excepting the three Universities, U. C. at Berkeley, and U. C. at Los Angeles.

Dean Ward's policy is to bring to the Summer Session outstanding leaders in the educational field, and to vary the program each year for the benefit of teachers in service. As a result, each year draws more and more teachers to San Francisco to take advantage of the many opportunities for improvement offered by the college.

Dinner Given Again

Due to popular demand another Swedish Dinner will be held Wednesday, July 8, at the Swedish School of Applied Arts. The sign-up for the first dinner was completed so quickly that it was deemed advisable to repeat the event. In addition to the dinner there will be Swedish folk dances and songs.

Petey the Pedagogue SAYS:

Ad getting affords "abundant" life, arrests self attention, reduces avoidpups, and adds attraction; an appropriate antidote for anticipating newspaper aspirants.

French Dinner Is Held By Summer Students of S. T. C.

La Favorite was the rendezvous for the French dinner given Thursday evening, June 25.

The large group attending the French dinner had come from many points of the entire Pacific Coast. Among those places represented were Washington and Oregon states; Sonoma and Santa Clara counties; the capital, Sacramento, was well represented; San Francisco and the Bay region were attending in a large number.

Though most of the fellow diners were strangers, the conversation was kept lively and congenial by the exchange of opinions and reminiscences of those who had attended the international dinners before.

Dean Mary Ward, director of Summer Session, has sponsored the nationality dinners for many sessions. It is her wish to entertain as well as interest out of town students in the very cosmopolitan atmosphere of San Francisco, while giving them the advantages of S. T. C.

Other dinners that have been sponsored and planned by Dean Ward and Mrs. A. Boulware are, the Italian, Chinese, Swedish, and a unique dinner of the Egyptians.

Posters will be placed in conspicuous places for the students to sign. Signing the poster gives the hostesses time to make sufficient arrangements for the number attending the dinners.

City Teachers Will Greet Visiting N.E.A.

The teachers of San Francisco have organized to welcome the N. E. A. members who visit this city on their way to the meeting of the association at Los Angeles.

Headquarters of the city Classroom Teachers' Association are maintained in the Women's City Club building at 465 Post street, near Mason.

Mr. Archibald Cloud, Deputy Superintendent of Schools, who is a member of the Teachers College faculty for the summer session, is general chairman of the hospitality organization, and Miss Keegan is the directing head.

The headquarters are being kept open for three weeks in San Francisco. During the N. E. A. sessions in Los Angeles headquarters are at the Biltmore hotel.

Assembly Features Bohemian Lyrics

A group of Bohemian folk songs and a solo harpist, were the features of an assembly held Tuesday, July 1, at 12 o'clock in the First Baptist church. Rudolphine Radil, soprano, appeared in a Bohemian peasant costume and explained her songs. She also gave a short sketch of the history of Bohemia. These songs were arranged in a sequence beginning with the most primitive type of song and ending with a selection from the latest Bohemian opera.

Dorah Holley, a concert harpist, not only accompanied Miss Radil, but played a selection which was followed by a Bohemian lullaby as an encore. Both Miss Radil and Miss Dooley are artists of note.

Fairmont Scene Of Annual Summer Informal Tea

Ellen Alexander, Chairman, Plans Affair; Many Noted Guests To Attend; Features Varied.

ELLEN ALEXANDER
Chairman

The annual summer session tea will be held Thursday, July 9 in the Terrace Room of the Fairmont Hotel at 3:30 o'clock. The room is to be decorated with spring flowers.

Honor guests for the affair include Mrs. Alexander C. Roberts and Mable Roberts, wife and daughter of the president of the college, Dean and Mrs. Clarence J. DuFour, Mrs. Frederic Burk, widow of the founder of the Frederic Burk School, Mrs. Archibald Anderson, widow of the former president of the college, Dr. Bess Gambrell, who is now at the University of California and who is an instructor at Yale University. One of the most interesting guests will be Miss Bernice Baxter who was graduated with the class of 1917 from this college. She was president of the student body as well as being active in other activities while here.

Entertainment is to be furnished by Mrs. Richard Papandre who will give a series of cantellations. Music by the Florence Alexander Trio will also be a feature of the affair. The announcement of the other guest artist is to come as a surprise to the students who attend the tea, although Mrs. F. Boulware has hinted that it will be a person of prominence and interest to the entire student body.

College Sorority To Hold Its Pajamarino

Informality is to be the keynote of the masked pajamarino at the Phi Lambda Chi club house July 10. The purpose of this affair which is to be the first social event of the summer session, is to give everyone an opportunity to get acquainted with the members, pledges, and sponsors who will be the guests.

The party will take place in the large social hall which constitutes the top floor of the house. The room is to be decorated in a novel and appropriate manner and clever refreshments are to be served. Games famous for their "mixing" qualities are being planned. Those attending are invited to stay all night and to have breakfast with the girls the next morning.

Open House will be held July 26 from 4 to 6 o'clock. Everyone is invited to attend.

Many New Features Will Be Added To Science Building

When the new science building is completed, there will no longer be any danger of being knocked down by incoming supplies; for a new elevator—the first in the college—is to be installed for this purpose, according to Miss Effie McFadden, head of the science department.

The new science building is to be a three story wing at the lower end of Anderson Hall on Haight Street. It is to extend to within twenty-eight feet of the gymnasium. Two auditoriums, one large and one small, a new entrance on Buchanan Street, a separate entrance for supplies, a store room for each department, and special rooms for experiment are a few of the new features. Also, biology, physics, and chemistry are each to occupy one floor.

A specially heated room where plants may be kept and grown, and where animals may be cared for, will be a great help to both botany and physiology classes.

Because the science department has been so crowded that there are only forty-five places open for biological science students, this addition to the college is being looked forward to with eager anticipation by many students.

Activities Room To Be Kept Open Daily

Inaugurating a new policy in the use of the Activities Room, the Student-Faculty Council decided to open the room daily, except Friday, from two to five o'clock in the afternoon for the use of groups meeting socially.

This action resulted from a demand for a room in which reunions, teas, bridge parties, and functions of like nature could be held. Any group in the college which desires to meet in this room must first secure permission from Catherine O'Sullivan in the Student Body Business Office. Miss O'Sullivan will appoint hostesses from the committee to preside at all times. These girls will serve the tea if the group desires.

Use of the room implies a strict observance of the regulations for its control. Among these are: first, the room must be left in the same condition as it was found; second, there is to be no music during school hours and no dancing at any time; third, no studying of any type is to be allowed since the room exists for gatherings of a purely social nature.

Informal Reception Proves Successful

The Activities Room was the scene of an informal reception which was held Thursday, July 2, to welcome both faculty and students.

The table was decorated with silver candelabra, yellow candles, and yellow roses in a silver bowl. Other flowers used were blue delphinium, yellow gladiolas, and varicolored pin cushions. Punch and cakes were served from three thirty to five o'clock. The Florence Alexander Trio furnished music for the occasion.

Ellen Alexander was chairman of the affair.

Cooper Speaks To Student Body At Big Assembly

U. S. Commissioner of Education Speaks of Professional, Modern Teaching Problems.

Students of the San Francisco State Teacher's College were again honored by being addressed by Dr. William John Cooper, United States Commissioner of Education, Monday, July 6, at 11 o'clock at the First Baptist Church.

Dr. Cooper spoke to a large group of students on the three problems which confront teachers today. These problems are: (1) how to make teachers aware of the professional nature of their calling; (2) how to understand the age in which we live and how we can better equip the children to live in the year 1950; (3) how can we interpret our aims to the parents who are the voters.

Enlarging upon these problems Dr. Cooper stressed the rapid change which is characteristic of this age. In this connection he told how it was possible sixty years ago to attain an M. D. degree with but one year's college work. He defined a profession as a calling which has a mastery of a body of scientific information and a skill in applying that information to the individual situation. Therefore, for the calling of teaching to attain the rank of a profession it is necessary for a teacher to have a knowledge of the sciences of biology, genetics, tests and measurements, and psychology.

Dr. Cooper said that it was easier for the American school system to

COURTESY!

Students enrolled in a professional college as S. T. C. should lead an example for others. We pride ourselves on a student body that is courteous at all times; a student body that helps to build the reputation of the college on a basis of which to be proud; a student body to which we can introduce anyone and be proud to do so.

Such a student body should at least be courteous enough to wait until the end of an entertainment given by a visiting artist and not arise while the guest in question is speaking or singing.

Members of our student body did just that at the last assembly, and many students walked out before the entertainment was over. As long as classes are dismissed in order that members of the college may have an opportunity to benefit from the assemblies arranged for them, it would be well if they would have the courtesy to remain and not cause embarrassment for the guests or the rest of the student body.

T. N. T.

What's the hurry? The little cliques and groups that stopped to chat warmly and eagerly between periods are entirely wanting this summer. Yes, I know, there are many strangers among us, but that is no excuse. Many new faces should mean many potential friends. The school has not yet been divided between the various snobbish cliques that scorn the many unfortunates that are not as would-be sophisticated as themselves. The summer offers fertile ground for a healthy growth of large scale friendliness, so let's have a big "hello" for everybody that can be coaxed into returning the most timid smile!

—"Friendly"

Dear T. N. T.

Students who desire to smoke between classes can do so on the campus, or on the street, but are kindly being requested to refrain from smoking in the building. The building is almost a fire-trap and it is not insured—so all means of fire prevention must be employed.

—Committee

Dear T. N. T.

Why keep the reserve books on the shelf until 3:30 on Fridays? How about the students that have to leave earlier, and can't wait around to get out a book? I think everyone has a right to the books and should be able to take them out when he has the time, rather than kill a couple of hours having to wait until 3:30.

—Ima Reader.

That's just it. Everyone has a right, and if you take the book before 3:30, this right will be violated.

Written by Me on the Q. T. VIOLA GIESEN

Yes, I guess there are many professional teachers studying here this summer—teachers who taught in rural schools. In fact, some of them must have been far, FAR up in the "sticks" somewhere—away from these "city slickers"! "Cause "city slickers" can beat the Dutch for getting out stacks of brand, new tom-foolery inventions every blessed day! Take these combination-locks for instance. You, know—the things we bought in the Co-op. Who ever invented those touchy things anyway? They're TOO temperamental. If they feel in the mood, they'll work. But if they have a grouch on, they WON'T!!!

So there you are—and there you stay—trying to coax your lock open when you know right well that you forgot the combination! "Dog-gone it!" you storm—"Another class missed!!!" But, much to your chagrin neither coaxing nor growling can budge a stubborn lock!!!

Combination locks are simple if you catch on to the knack. But if you don't—!!! They surely can be the cause of college grief! In fact, I know the incident of two women trying to rush to their P.E. class in order to be on time. But their devilish lock said "no." So finally—after frantic jerks to right and hectic twists to left—in sheer desperation, one of the sorely distressed damsels simply leaned against her locker and burst into tears!! Now, how much good the crying did, no one knows.

But I have a hunch that the tears might have made the lock just a trifle bit stiffer by causing lots of rust!!!

The Lost and Found department of the Co-op is doing plenty of business nowadays. Articles are constantly coming in and going out. So if you misplaced your pen, drop around—it might be there. For there are at least a half-a-dozen reposing in the drawer.

Gloves, black and white—sollid and clean—are bunched there together. Pins, all the way from glittering shoe-buckles to ornate hat-pins, can be claimed. Text books, pencils, writing-pads and date-books find themselves lying side-by-side yearning for their owners. There are other incidentals, too.

The point is, do any of these things belong to YOU? If so, the Marples urge you to come into the store and identify your property. If it is there, it will be returned to you. Now, it seems to me that this is a proposition which you can't afford to neglect. For if your lost property is valuable, to inquire for it at the Lost and Found is the sensible thing to do. You can't lose anything—and you MIGHT get what you want!!!

WATCH BULLETIN BOARDS

WILD HUCKLEBERRIES. Have you ever perched yourself on an old log grounded in a clump of huckleberry bushes, and stuffed berries in your face until your hands and mouth suggested that you had been rinsing in blue ink? Possibly you brought a bucket along so that you might bring sufficient berries home to make a few most delicious pies. Early some Sunday morning, direct the roadster down the Sky-line Boulevard. About thirty-five miles from the city you will arrive at King's Mountain. A service station, roadside store, and semi-hotel marks the spot, and particularly a sign whitewashed on the side of a small rising, reading "King's Mt." To your right as you arrive from the city, and to the right of the service station, a narrow dirt road runs to the west. Follow this road, as it twines its one-car gauge along the edge of a deep canyon, past old watering troughs, lanes of bronzed madrone trees, until you come to a little clearing to your right with a giant scrub-oak in the center of it. The clearing is about the size of an ordinary baseball field. Under the oak you will find the outline of an ancient wagon road. These tracks connect with a foot-trail in the clump of redwoods to the north-west of the oak. Less than a half-mile down the path you will find shiny leafed bushes to your right or left. Closer examination reveals many little clusters of dark blue berries about the size of a pea on these bushes. Wild Huckleberries!

THE REGISTRAR SAYS

1. Summer Session transfer students who are working towards an A. B. degree should call at the Registrar's office and make an appointment with Miss Crumpton or Mrs. Ray for an interview regarding their evaluations.
2. In order to insure accuracy in records, it is absolutely necessary for every student in the college to call at the office, room 110, and verify the accuracy of his official program.
3. If for any reason a student finds it necessary to withdraw from a course or from the college, he must notify the registrar's office in writing.

Have You Tried---

A GHOST CAMP. Follow the same trail on down the mountain if you can. Farther on the trail becomes growth of ferns, firs, redwoods and the merest break in the dense vines. If your prowess in trail-ferreting gets you to the bottom of the canyon, you will recognize it by the mossy semblance of a road that follows the current of a small, icy stream. The road runs at right angles to the trail. A hundred yards down this road will bring you to the skeleton of a lumber camp abandoned about twenty-five years ago. Rusty boilers, old saw frames, belting rods—all partly covered by the decaying remnants of a shed. A mouldy log bridge crosses the stream to a row of sheds on a ridge. On the first of the sheds, in a dark corner, you will find the makings of a wild honey bee hive.

Students Will Hear Symphony Concert

Students of the San Francisco State Teacher's College will have the opportunity of hearing a program of special interest which will be offered by the San Francisco Philharmonic Orchestra, Friday, July 24. Tickets at reduced rates are on sale at the Student's cooperative store.

George Von Hagel, conductor of the orchestra, was formerly the solo pianist with the Saint Louis Symphony Orchestra and conductor of the orchestra for the Dresden Opera company. Guests artists for the occasion include Jack Herod, an eight year old pianist, who will play Mendelssohn's Concerto in E Minor; Noel Sullivan, a vocalist of wide reputation; and Mrs. Marian Elkus, who always popular with San Francisco audiences.

College Biologists Take Several Trips

Searching out the haunts of birds, the students of Miss Kautz's biology classes can be glimpsed daily on field trips in Golden Gate Park.

Miss Kautz, who is an instructor at Galileo High School and the Extension Division of the University of California, believes in going straight to Nature for her scientific material. The experience her students have enjoyed most, Miss Kautz says, was that of watching the actions of Mother robin feeding and caring for her young, but the domestic lives of hummingbirds, yellow warblers, and house sparrows have also been investigated.

Last Saturday the Economic Vertebrate Class, which is studying the vertebrate life of the bay region, went on an excursion to the Berkeley Campus, where they spent several hours exploring the rooms of the Museum of Economic Vertebrates.

Terrier Competes With Music Class

Jennie wanted her mistress. There was no doubt about it. There she was straining at the leash that was so firmly fastened to a post outside of the cafeteria. She could not get the satisfaction of even the slightest hint of release. So she howled. She howled desperately giving the music department adequate competition for once. She howled just as any deserted small wire haired terrier would howl if she were left all alone while her mistress went to a psychology class. She howled in spite of the food and water that was offered to her. She howled in spite of the sympathy of the passing students. She even howled at the kindly Bay Leaf reporters who gave her the intriguing name of "Jennie".

U. S. History Course Proves Interesting

Dr. Charles Leonard, professor of two history classes for the six weeks summer session, is one of the foremost instructors of the San Diego State Teachers College.

Dr. Leonard is conducting one class in History of American West which deals with the history and development of the far west. The other course in American History gives the founding of the new government and the changes which occurred through the Civil War and reconstruction period.

This is the first time Dr. Leonard has been affiliated with this college.

AT OUR OWN COLLEGE CAFETERIA

So. America Topic Of Visiting Savant

Dr. Frank Stanger has caused interest in South America because of his personal contact with that country.

For the first time in the history of the College a course entitled The United States and Latin American. In spite of the fact that the class meets during the noon hour there are fifty-two members enrolled.

Dr. Stanger has taught five years in that country and received the degree of Doctor of History from the University of San Marcos at Lima, Peru. A number of articles have been contributed by him to La Iglesia y el Estado en el Peru Independiente. His story of first hand information together with his years of research give added interest to his lectures.

Dr. Stanger is also giving a course in California History.

Biology Instructor Attends Discussion

A discussion on the betterment of health conditions in the schools of California took Miss Effie McFadden to Sacramento where this important subject was being studied by the various health agencies of the state.

State superintendent Vierling Kervey presided at the meeting and in using fully all available facilities his speech stressed the necessity for the health of child and teacher. He urged that the subject of health be taken under consideration at all Institutes and teacher-gatherings.

Representatives from the offices of the State Board of Education, the City and County Superintendents of Schools, the State and County Boards of Health, and the Health Physicians from the Universities and State Teachers Colleges participated in the general discussion.

Golf Teacher Has Several Activities

Although Mr. Ted Robbins, the golf instructor at S. T. C. is not to remain at the summer session, a brief resume of his teaching activities might be interesting; for Mr. Robbins will be back for the regular session.

Mr. Robbins came from Seattle, Washington, in 1920, where he taught at the public golf course. In San Francisco he spent four years as a golf instructor at the Emporium. From there he moved to his own course on Mason street, where he remained until two years ago. Mr. Robbins has been a golf "pro" at the Harding park, Woman's City Club, Western Women's Club, and at S. T. C.

Trumpet Blows In Discussion

Excitement, argument, and laughter reigned supreme Monday morning in Mrs. Blanche Ellsworth's Public Speaking class. During the sales talks which were the feature of the class, Miss Zelma Cerims demonstrated a trumpet. She claimed that a silver bell horn would produce a better tone quality than a brass horn.

Mr. Minsenmeyer, a member of the class, disagreed with the young lady. To prove his case, he demonstrated on Miss Cerim's horn. There was a great deal of discussion between the two young people much to the amusement of the class.

The outcome of the demonstration was that Mr. Minsenmeyer, instead of proving his point, substantiated Miss Cerims statement.

Everything ended peacefully, however, and the class is now awaiting the next outburst.

free itself of propagandism than for the European systems.

"The problem today is to teach the child how to think and not what to think," he said, "because none of us is wise enough today to foresee the conditions in 1950, and it will be then that the boys and girls in our schools today will take over the duties of active citizenship. We must analyze each child's capacities and attempt to develop them. The teacher must through varied reading, not only on educational subjects, but especially in the fields of sociology and economics determine the trends of the day. We must see that the child learns how to spend his leisure time, how to keep in good health, and how to be a good citizen of the world."

The P. T. A. is considered by Dr. Cooper to be the best way for educators to reach the voters. Through this organization the aims and ideals of modern education may be spread to those whose education ceased at the beginning of the century.

Dr. Cooper has been interested in this college since Dr. Burk became its head and usually finds time to visit it on his hurried trips west. The office which he holds is one which is secured by presidential appointment and it is the highest position in the educational field in the United States.

The faculty received Dr. Cooper at a luncheon at the Whitcomb Hotel directly after the assembly.

Meredith Rowell has received a teaching position for next term. Laura Foster has received a school at Creston, San Luis Obispo county.

Puppets Are Being Constructed In Class

Under the direction of Miss Casebolt, the puppetry class is fashioning figures for three puppet shows to be given the last week of summer school. These first three weeks are spent learning the construction of puppets, each student making three. The puppet stage and scenery as well as the historical background of puppetry are mastered during the remaining weeks.

One does not have to be mechanically clever in making puppets but he must enjoy the attempt at creation. To present a puppet show requires some drill, but any person who appreciates a dramatic situation will derive a cocky pleasure in making little figures do what he is afraid to do. All those made here are hand puppets of the Perydilly type.

Mr. Perydilly is planning to present his puppets in a play later in the summer season at Wheeler Hall, University of California.

College Graduate To Begin New Position

Reta Bacigalupi, who will graduate at the end of the summer session, has accepted a position in the Tuolumne Grammar School. Her work will be with the fourth grade.

Miss Bacigalupi did her practice teaching in the Frederic Burk training school and in the Jackson Grammar School in Amador County. She has the distinction of being the first student from this college to do beginner's work in a rural community.

During her entire college career, Reta has been a member of the Siena Club, and has made the Siena House her home. She was also a member of the Nyoda Club.

Savant Comments On Students' Spirit

Dr. Floyd A. Cave, head of the Social Science department, was impressed with the smoothness and dispatch with which the summer session classes got under way. Many of the student body met most of their classes and received heavy assignments the first day of school. Maybe the efficiency and spirit of the administration radiated itself to the entering students. At least the readiness of the students to buckle down to work suggests the idea to Dr. Cave. Dr. Cave believes the large percentage of more mature students has a desirable effect on the conscientiousness of the student-body in regard to work.

Music Department Plans New Program

Music students will present a program at the Assembly, Wednesday, July 15.

Although a week of the session has already passed, Mr. Knuth requests that it be made known that he is still in need of a bass. Any students playing this instrument please get in touch with him. This addition will assist in completing the summer session orchestra.

Student Enthusiasm For Summer Session Cheers Professor

Several summers on State's faculty have impressed Mr. Charles F. Perrott with the eagerness and conscientiousness with which the student body responds to instruction. The students work with zeal exceptional for summer session attendance, in his opinion. With a smile, he added that at least he was fortunate enough to have his classes filled with students exemplary of his assertion. Ceres High School controls much of his enthusiasm, yet he claims it is sincerely a pleasure, as well as a source of refreshing variety, to come up to San Francisco each summer.

Regular session finds Mr. Perrott in the role of principal of the high school at Ceres, California. Ceres High School furnished thirteen percent of the freshman enrollment to Modesto Junior College last semester. As well, during a recent contest at the Junior College, five out of the twenty students in the school were Ceres graduates.

Mr. Perrott's interest centers around debating; he coaches several organizations of it at Ceres High, and was awarded a degree of distinction in debating and oratory by the National Forensic League last year. During the last three years his team has won twice and taken second place once in the debating division of the Central California Public Speaking League. Other teams of speakers he has coached have been equally as distinctive.

Mr. Perrott has classes in Education and Social Science this summer.

Kindergarten Pupils Develop Big Project

Kindergarten children ranging in age from four to five and one half years of age, in the Frederic Burk training school, are developing a summer camping project. A large tepee tent has been made of heavy wrapping paper over poles, Bed, chairs, and table are being made from wooden packing boxes and painted bright attractive colors.

On the large pinning board, measuring approximately 10x4 feet the children have made, with the aid of crayons, kalsomine, scissors, and paste, a scene representing their camping grounds. Pictures suggestive of summer camping are brought from home each day by the pupils and mounted on a bulletin board in their activities room.

Later on, suit cases will be made of heavy cardboard with rope handles and filled with clothing and essentials for a camping trip. A real picnic will finish off the project.

Miss Alice Allcutt, supervisor of the kindergarten department, is assisted by Alice Zander, Florence Stark, and Gladys Basset, Student Teachers. Miss Basset, at present, has charge of the construction work for the project.

Instructor Travels

Vacation for Miss Effie McFadden consisted of a number of activities. After a week spent at Carmel, she went to San Jose to visit her sister who resides there.

While in San Jose Miss McFadden availed herself of the opportunity of visiting the Science Department of the State Teachers College located there.

The remainder of her vacation Miss McFadden spent at her home.

Slide Collection Available For Use Of Summer Students

For the convenience and help of the students at the summer session, the Visual Education room is to be open daily from nine to ten o'clock. Helen Grey, the assistant in charge of the room, will welcome anyone who is interested in seeing or using the equipment which is provided by the Visual Education Department. Both instructors and students are free to use the materials if they will sign up for them with Miss Grey.

The collection on file includes slides illustrating various phases of the study of art; geography, economic, general and human; nature study; literature; and history. There are flat mounted pictures having to do with the same subjects. The stereograph files are complete. According to Miss Grey one can find illustrations for any subject among those materials. There are also still forms used for the study of geography and industry. There are special exhibits on various subjects. The Visual Education department also has a number of maps which are at the disposal of the students.

Trip Planned

Saturday will give those who have always wanted to go to Palo Alto, Stanford University, and President Hoover's home, an opportunity to do so in one of the Greyline busses at a price that is less than the usual one way fare to Palo Alto. Mrs. Fern Boulware has planned this trip as a novelty and to provide a way for a large group of students to go. Each bus will carry busses as necessary will be provided. They will leave San Francisco early Saturday afternoon and return in the early evening.
